

In 1989 Soviet troops were sent to maintain peace. Shortly after Georgia gained its independence from the Soviet Union in 1991, heavy fighting broke out between Ossetian and Georgian forces, forcing ...

Three new major business projects with investment exceeding 2 bln rubles ($22.5 mln) that will provide over 400 jobs, will be launched in South Ossetia shortly, Russia's Deputy Economic...

Abstract The significance of economic factors in the emergence and development of "de facto states" remains insufficiently studied and debatable. This article deals with the case of South ...

Mid-level medical staff at the Republican Multidisciplinary Medical Centre (RMMC) in the capital of South Ossetia have held a spontaneous protest, demanding a revision of the current pay ...

It has been shown that as a result of large-scale assistance from Russia, a structurally weak hyperservice economy has formed, whose key industries depend on government demand and ...

Protests Erupt in South Ossetia as People Demand Change! Tensions have escalated in a breakaway region of Georgia as protesters stormed the parliament building, demanding the ...

OverviewAfter the 2008 warOrigins of the conflictPost-Soviet timelineTimeline before 2008Events in 2008See alsoOn 26 August 2008, Russia officially recognized both South Ossetia and Abkhazia as independent states. On 10 September 2008 a Georgian policeman was fatally wounded at a military checkpoint near Karaleti. He was believed to have been shot from a Russian security zone around 800 meters away. The Russian and South Ossetian army both denied ...

The UN refugee agency is mounting an emergency airlift of relief supplies to bolster its stockpiles of humanitarian aid in the Caucasus region amid continuing concerns over the plight of civilians caught ...

On 24-25 August 2019, tensions mounted at the administrative boundary line in South Ossetia as the Georgian police erected a checkpoint between the villages of Chorchana and Tselisi in response to ...

In response, Russia sent troops into Georgia and formally recognized the independence of South Ossetia, along with another breakaway region of Georgia, Abkhazia.

The South Ossetians should be pressed to respect the right to return of ethnic Georgians, while Tbilisi should be more supportive of the few who either stayed in South Ossetia or have been ...

Web: <https://www.scmindustries.co.za>